Col. Sumner on Pioche.

"A trip to Pioche; being a sketch of recent frontier travel," is the title of a lecture delivered at the University of California, on the 13th of August by Col. Charles A. Sumner. The lecture has been printed in pamphlet form, a copy of which, by some mishap, had not fallen under our observation until yesterday. Col. Sumner is well known here, having been engaged in reporting the proceedings of the celebrated lawsuit between the Raymond & Ely and Hercules Mining Companies. As the lecturer's concluding remarks relate entirely to Pioche, we copy them, viz:

Half way up on the mountain range to which we suddenly turned from a southerly direction, our course now bearing more to the west, we discovered two or three hundred house or cabin roofs, which still retain and show the gloss of new shingles, sitting—on a single straight street line—on a constantly rising incline. On this hill, Pioche is situated. It is a town of about 280 miles by stage to see. The driver immediately informed us that we really have in view about one-half of that town, Meadows Valley and Cedar, two considerable streets, and a portion of Main street extending on to the Raymond & Ely works, being, as yet, hidden from sight.

As we gradually approach we have more and more of the town and side brought under notice, until we turn to the south at a distance of a half or three quarters of a mile from the town, when the main street, as well as the short spur of Lacombe street, is within the direct line of vision. Well, here is Pioche. A wonderful mining camp to be situated at this distance from the railway, "Pioche," which strikes us at first with the conviction that it is a place which is at the end of a long and severe journey. It is not striking you secondly, that it is very like every other prosperous side-mountain camp in Nevada that you have ever visited. It occurs to you thirdly, that it is incredible that there have been only a few years, to remain for one period of twelve years. You do not now realize that it contains 2,000 adult inhabitants.

The driver begins to point out the locations of the different mines which are situated immediately back of the town on the sharply rising mountain sides. But you check him to inquire as to the new mill on your left, that is fully constructed but apparently unused. This is the Flannery (Flora) mill, erected under the supervision of Jake Clark. And it is supposed that Joe Clark comes to help place it upon a business footing. It has not been at work yet.

And here we have a few rods above this mill, half a mile or more from town, two graveyards. The driver replies to our inquiry, "That is the Odd Fellows," that the Masons' cemetery." And he informs us that an unusual funeral is a public ceremony in which repose the bones and ashes of 112 men—adding with probable exaggeration: "Seven of which died a natural death." The last two men who died with their bones on the hill, the day before yesterday. And in telling this, the driver seemed also to have a pride of history in such a matter.

We have touched the suburbs of Pioche, and as we slowly move up the hill on a grade increasing from ten to twenty feet, we take the driver's enumeration of the mines and listen with thoroughly absorbed interest, until we reach the edge of a crowd of not less than fifteen hundred persons, which fill Main street from the junction of Lacombe to the Express office—a distance of 50 feet.

Pioche is situated in what might be properly termed the "hills" of four distinct hills on the mountain range. Here, on the right, as you commence the ascent into the town, is a limestone hill. Passing around its individual base, a mile perhaps, and you come to a hill of granite, on which the Raymond & Ely, Hercules, Kentucky, Pioche Phenix, New Herk, Ingomar, and other claims are located—the Panama Flat claims proper. Half a mile of travel on the breast of this hill, over the most northerly portion of the course, and you come to the Meadows Valley range, which is also quartzite. This is divided from the last mentioned (Raymond & Ely) hill by a depression of something near 70 feet in height of the hill; a road running up from the end of Main street proper through this depression. On this hill are the various Meadows Valley mines, the works of which are in the breast of the hill—that is, the half way up the mountain. Above the Meadows Valley are the Huhn & Hunt, Chapman, American Flag, and half a dozen other mines of less celebrity. This range runs in an easterly and westerly direction. There is a hill or mountain spur, extending north from the breast of this quartzite mountain side, on which the Meadows Valley mines are situated, of limestone formation.

Suppose Telegraph Hill to represent the Raymond & Ely segment of the mountain circle, and Russian Hill, as far as Pine street, to represent the Meadows Valley range; and then suppose that from Pine street there should extend this hill of limestone, striking out toward the Bay; that will give you some idea—and, I think, not altogether a vague one—of the two promontories of which one of the limestone projections. This limestone projection runs north a quarter of a mile, and is so far as ascertained, valueless as a mineral-bearing body. So you perceive that Pioche is almost in an amphitheater, with no valley, plain, or regular bowl, it is true; with one outlook northward, looking out into an immense valley view, the upper end of which extends beyond the vision, and in fact, as already noted, is traveled clear up to the Patterson Pass, from which, as choice brands of cigars, J. C. L. will receive in a few days 200 packages of the finest cigars and case goods ever brought to Pioche. n15-1w tested, and actually, by virtue of the title set up and most ably and vigorously urged on the part of the plaintiff, involving greater interest than were ever before staked in any similar encounter on this coast.

But I am admonished that the time appropriated for my use in this place, on one occasion, has expired. A more complete and systematic description of this most remarkable mining camp; a narrative of the great mining trial, "all of which I saw and part of which I was," with personal description of the judge, lawyers, witnesses and others connected therewith; an account of a trip to Bullionville and the Mormon town of Panaca, twelve miles distant from Pioche, and a description of the Warm Springs and the mills in that vicinity; the narrative of a somewhat lengthy and detailed interview with the celebrated Mother Lee (who superintended and carried on the Indian war of 1866-7, in this neighborhood), a description of Eureka, and a mining trial there; these must be reluctantly set aside at this time—perhaps to be submitted to you in this place on some future occasion.

With vivid personal recollections of the scene, I must reluctantly plant myself on Panaca Flat, and bid you good night.

WEDDING LATE EVENING.—As was the general expectation, the interesting marriage ceremony at the Episcopal Church was performed last evening by Rev. H. L. Badger. Before the appointed hour there were a large number of ladies and gentlemen, present attracted thither by the interesting nature of the ceremony to be performed. Mr. Johnston was supported by Mr. A. J. Blair and Miss Robinson by Mrs. A. J. Blair. Mr. James Schoonmaker (a relative of the lady) gave away the bride. It would be a work of supererogation to say that the groom looked happy, and that the bride looked charming and beautiful. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Johnston repaired to their future residence, on Hoffman street, where they received the invited guests.

RUNAWAY.—About 8 o'clock last evening a runaway took place in town, which fortunately was without serious results. Two gentlemen got into a carriage near the Catholic Church, when the horses started prematurely, and as the carriage came near being turned over, the occupants jumped out and the horses ran down Meadows Valley street at a break-neck speed. They turned the corner into Main street and up that thoroughfare at an accelerated rate. A man on horse started after the runaway, and finally overtook them. No damage was done either to the occupants who were thrown out, or the horses or the carriage.

LETTER FROM BRICKEN.—A gentleman in this place has just received a letter from Peter Cargoth, dated on the Stickeen river, October 24. The writer was in Pioche some months ago, and left here for the far-off region of the Stickeen. He is promised a translation of Mr. Cargoth's letter for publication tomorrow. It will doubtless be read with interest.

HONORABLE MENTION.—From the certificate of the President of Santa Clara College, Rev. A. Varsi, we learn that young Henry Freudenthal received honorable mention at the closing exercises of the college. We congratulate our young friend on his progress in procuring an education.

MATRIMONIAL.—Under the appropriate head this morning will be found a notice here of the union in the holy bonds of matrimony of our respected fellow-citizen James S. Smith and Miss Mary Guinness. We tender Mr. Smith our hearty congratulations on this auspicious event.

FOR RENT.—D. I. Williams advertises the Williams house for rent, together with the furniture and fixtures pertaining to the same. The house is centrally located, and is doing a good business. Here is offered an opportunity for any one desiring to enter into business.

POSTPONED.—The benefit to the family of the late Wm. F. Gorman has been postponed until Tuesday evening. Tickets are being sold rapidly, and we have good reason to believe that the whole number will be sold.

PIOCHE AND SALT LAKE.—Gilmer & Salisbury continue to run stages between Pioche and Salt Lake on alternate days, showing the time of departure of the westward bound trains from Ogden.

WEATHER.—For several hours during the day the weather continues delightful, but the evenings become quite chilly, and tender artificial heat necessary.

DISABLED.—The jury in the case of George Lambert, alias the Flying Dutchman, after being out fifteen hours, failed to agree, and were discharged.

NEW STAGE LINE.—Travis & Co. have commenced running a tri-weekly line from Hamilton to Cherry Creek. Fare from Pioche to Cherry Creek $2.50.

"No passengers," says the telegraph from Hamilton, on the stage which arrives here to-night.

METTING TO-MORROW.—The Meagher Guard will meet at the Armory this evening. Let every member attend.

THE Capitol restaurant, on Lacombe street, is for rent. See advertisement.

JOHN C. LYNN has just received a lot of fine foreign wines—Private Caves, Green Seal, Charles Heidsieck, and other fine brands of champagne; also, superior extra Chateau in France, Chateau in Rome, etc., and choice brands of cigars. J. C. L. will receive in a few days 200 packages of the finest cigars and case goods ever brought to Pioche. n15-1w
